HILLSBORO STADIUM NOW OFFERS FREE Wi-Fi POWERED BY FRONTIER

HILLSBORO, OR - The City of Hillsboro Parks & Recreation's Gordon Faber Recreation Complex (GFRC) including the Hillsboro Stadium now offers free Wi-Fi service powered by Frontier Communications. This is made possible in part with a grant from the Washington County Visitors Association (WCVA).

Free Wi-Fi powered by Frontier Communications is available throughout the stadium seating area, in the central concession/plaza area NE of the stadium, and at most of the spectator areas of the softball fields surrounding the stadium. In addition, separate high-speed Internet powered by Frontier is also available for use by media outlets covering events at the Hillsboro Stadium.

"Thanks to Frontier Communications and the WCVA, we can now offer these high demand services which will help us serve our community and existing clients even better, and will also make holding and attending events at the facility even more attractive to a broader audience," said Hillsboro Parks & Recreation Director Steve Greagor.

"At Frontier we believe in partnering with our communities to offer technology that helps our residents and businesses stay connected at home, the office or on the go," said Ken Gaffga, Oregon Senior Vice President and General Manager for Frontier. "We're proud to be the official Wi-Fi provider for the GFRC/Hillsboro Stadium and support the needs of the City of Hillsboro."

"Sporting events are an integral part of Washington County's tourism efforts," said Terry Goldman, president and CEO for the WCVA. "With the addition of Wi-Fi, these facilities will be even more attractive to event planners, and potentially will increase the number of out-of-area events, teams and participants booking the Gordon Faber Recreation Complex."
